

WHOLESALE SADDLERS COMING TO CONVENTION AT WORLD'S FAIR.

One Thousand Persons Will Attend National Gathering of Harness Men — St. Louis Citizens Offer Carriages and Four-in-Hand Turnouts for the Entertainment of Delegates.

VISITORS WILL TOUR CITY STREETS AND FOREST PARK.

The sixteenth annual convention of the Wholesale Saddle Association, which will meet at the Inside Inn to-morrow, will be attended by 1,000 persons from all parts of the country.

Special features of the meeting of the harness dealers and manufacturers will be journeys through the Exposition grounds, carriage and tallyho rides through Forest Park and the residence parties of the city, gondola rides on the World's Fair lagoons, organ recitals at Festival Hall and the New York State building, trolley rides to Delmar Garden, a night tour of the Pike, and a banquet at the Tyrolean Alps.

The local Executive Committee of the association, of which Louis C. Hermann, of the Slickies Saddle Company is chairman, has reserved extensive space at the Inside Inn for the entertainment of the visiting delegates and their families, thus affording economic and convenient facilities for seeing all the attractions of the World's Fair.

Numerous local committees have been appointed to take charge of the various details of the national meeting. R. Lohlein, a member of the Reception Committee, is the oldest whip manufacturer in the United States.

SECURING VEHICLES.
What promises to be one of the most enjoyable features of the entertainment provided for the visiting delegates is the tallyho and carriage ride through Forest Park and the residence streets of St. Louis on Wednesday afternoon. Many St. Louis citizens, among them A. C. Steiner, C. P. O'Fallon, William J. King, Wallace Simmons, Augustus A. Bunch and J. C. Moore, have promised to loan their private four-in-hand coaches to the saddlers that afternoon. Sixteen of these turn-outs will be in line, followed by more than 100 carriages.

The Wholesale Saddle Association was organized at the Lindell Hotel, St. Louis, in 1888, with A. F. Rissler of Chicago as president, John Denvir of St. Louis, secretary, and J. B. Kreher of St. Louis, treasurer.

The present officers of the association are: E. A. Hendrickson of the Indianapolis Saddle Company, president; Frank A. Askew of the Askew Saddle Company of Kansas City, vice president; Albert Kuhlmeier of A. Ortmeier & Son, Chicago, treasurer, and Henry Ohmmer of the Stock Exchange building, Chicago, secretary-commissioner.

The National Saddle Manufacturers' Association will alternate with the Wholesale Saddle Association in holding business sessions at the Inside Inn.

DIAZ'S PROBABLE SUCCESSOR
MAN OF GREAT PERSONALITY.

Ramon Corral, Nominee for Vice President, Has Served His Country Well and Long.

REPUBLICAN SPECIAL.
Washington, June 11.—Ramon Corral, the nominee of the Nationalist party for Vice President of Mexico, owes his rise to sterner honesty, demonstrated in a long list of public posts in a comparatively short life. He is one of the energetic "young men" of Mexico.

The probability of his succeeding President Diaz, the stern power who has made Mexico what it is, renders his characteristics and public services of much interest to the Western Hemisphere.

He is now one of the strongest members of the Diaz Ministry, holding the portfolio of the Interior. He is 50 years old, a man of great weight, popular among many classes of people, and has not permitted the confines of his country to limit his life.

When peace was completely re-established he became a candidate for the State Legislature, to which he was elected. Later he took another step upward in an appointment as Secretary of State of Sonora, which is one of the largest and probably the most wealthy of the States of the Mexican Union, being rich in minerals and agriculture.

Corral's laws were in much need of revision, and Senator Corral was one of the foremost of those who undertook their revision. The form into which the statutes were then molded is the letter by which they are administered to-day.

About four years ago he was elected to the important position of Governor of the Federal District and served with much distinction.

INSPECT TEXAS WATERWAYS.
Commission Looks Over Galveston Harbor Improvements.

REPUBLICAN SPECIAL.
Galveston, Tex., June 11.—The River and Harbor Committee, headed by Chairman Burton, and consisting of Alexander of New York, Atchison of Pennsylvania, Davidson of Wisconsin, Bishop of Michigan, Randall of Louisiana, Burgess of Texas, and accompanied by Major Hodges of the United States Engineering Department, which is making an inspection tour of the river and harbor improvements of Texas, arrived last night from Corpus Christi, Aransas Pass and Velasco.

After inspecting the harbor improvements here this morning, they proceeded up the ship canal being constructed between this city and Houston to investigate.

Car Knecks Buggy Off Bridge.
A horse and buggy belonging to the World's Fair Official Programme Company was thrown from the bridge over the River de Peres by a Page Avenue car yesterday morning. The buggy was demolished and the horse killed. The driver of the buggy was also thrown from the vehicle, but escaped injury. He is now in the hospital.

Did Not Take Morphine.
Henry Boehmer, who was taken to the City Hospital Wednesday night from No. 204 Page boulevard, where he had called to see a girl employed in the house, says

KILLED CHILD ON HIS LAST TRIP

After 10 Years on a Wagon With-out an Accident, Driver Runs Over a Boy.

"LAWYERS" BESIEGE PARENT.

They Quarrel With Each Other in Effort to Obtain Retainer in Damage Suit.

REPUBLICAN SPECIAL.
New York, June 11.—Frontis Post, 7 years old, the only son of William E. Post of No. 277 Amsterdam avenue, was run over and killed by an express wagon in front of his home. He had asked his mother to let him help the janitor transplant some flowers for her, and her last glimpse of the little fellow had been at the turn of the stairs, his face buried in a mass of blossoms. He went to play with some schoolmates a few minutes later and ran in front of an express wagon coming west through Seventy-third street.

Frank J. McNulty, the driver, did not see the boy until too late. He was knocked down by the horse and a cart wheel passed over him. McNulty carried him in his arms to the sidewalk, and then learning from the other children where the child lived, ran with him up to his mother's apartment. He died in a few minutes.

McNulty, greatly distressed, waited in front of the house until a policeman came and then gave himself up. Sergeant Flannery he said as he was being taken to the station.

It was the last trip of his last day on the wagon. I was to have gone to other work in Brooklyn. Ten years without an accident, and then to kill that little boy!

William Post, called from his place of business by telephone by Mrs. Post, had scarcely reached the side of his child when four "lawyers" appeared at his home and told him of immense sums of money he could get out of the child's death if he would sign the papers which they quarreled with each other to present. They represented that they had had their attention called to the case by special messages from the police "at Commissioner McAdoo's headquarters."

The distressed father ordered them from the house. They went and were joined at the street corner by three more of their kind, who had arrived too late.
